Elena Uvarova

has successfully completed the online, non-credit Specialization

Google Agile Essentials

Individuals who have completed Google Agile Essentials have gained the skills and confidence needed to bring order to projects and deliver results faster using agile methodologies. They learned to focus on the most important tasks, break down projects into manageable steps, and use simple tools and documentation to keep projects on track. They gained practical experience building Scrum artifacts like product and sprint backlogs, practiced estimation techniques, created sprint plans, ran sprint retrospectives, and wrote comprehensive project recaps. They are now ready to incorporate agile methodologies into any project.
